

FEELING LUCKY??

Why Is the Ground Moving So Much?

The Basic Tectonics

Tectonic One: The Power of States and the Nature of Power

- Nation states and hard power play less of a role
- Sub-state actors and even individuals are empowered
- Failed states create risk

Brent Scowcroft
(April 2012)

Threats from Non-State Actors

Terrorism

Transnational Crime

Cyber attacks

So...What Could Go Wrong?

- There's stealing your stuff

- There's hurting your network

- There's creating physical destruction

Our National Security Structures are 65+ Years Old

- The National Security Act of 1947 created the NSC, CIA, SECDEF, JCS and the Air Force

Tectonic Two: See This Map? Don't Get Used to It.

Or This One ...

Or This One Either...

Tectonic Three: The Rise of China

MANDIANT[®]

APT1

Exposing One of China's Cyber Espionage Units

Tectonic Four: Us

- Walter Russell Mead's Archetypes of Presidential Foreign Policy "Styles"

- Hamiltonian
- Wilsonian
- Jeffersonian
- Jacksonian

BUCKLE UP.
It's going to be a tough century.

